Originality of work

The work described in the submitted manuscript must be original work of author, has not been published previously elsewhere (except in the form of an abstract and academic thesis) and is not submitted or under consideration for publications elsewhere.

Corresponding author

The corresponding author is responsible for ensuring the approval of the manuscript from all author of submitted manuscript. The corresponding author is also responsible to take required permission (if any) from the concern authority or institution for the publication of article.

Copyright permission and approval

The corresponding author is required to obtain the necessary permission of texts, passages, tables, figures/illustrations and artworks published previously elsewhere from the copyright owners at the time of manuscript submission. The journal editor/publisher do not held responsible legally for any claims and compensations. The proof of permission and approval is to be submitted for accepted article before final publication.

Authorship

Inclusions of a person who do not meet authorship requirement as specified by the editorial policy or the exclusion of a person who meets the requirement is a violation of this publication ethics.

Changes in authorship

The addition, deletion and re-arrangement of authorship in the accepted manuscript are possible whenever there is need before appearing online. Only corresponding authors can make request for a change in authorship along with reason and written agreement of all author for suggested changes in authorship.

Acknowledgements

Place acknowledgements, including information on grants received, parties or personnel involved, before the references, in a separate section, and not as a footnote on the title page.

Disclosure of conflict of interest

The author must disclose or reveal the possible conflict of interest arising from the submitted manuscript at any level. Authors should disclose all financial/relevant interest that may have influenced the development of the manuscript.

Open access

The published articles are freely available online to the interested readers and other users in any medium or format including the reproduction and distributions provided that the original source is properly cited.

Author's right

Editing rights

The editor reserved the right to edit the accepted manuscript for wide readability. Editor's decision will be final and can't be challenged anywhere. However, the proof of edited manuscript will be sent to the corresponding author for approval before publication. The editors of the RALF journal reserve the right to reject, edit, remove, or otherwise alter any content submitted for any reason after a notification to you.

Plagiarism

Submitted manuscript to RALF should be original works from the author worldwide. The plagiarised materials/manuscript/article/data cannot be considered for publication, while plagiarism of any type will incur sanctions against all author of submitted manuscript/article/materials/data. RALF publisher reserve the right to impose sanctions in case of plagiarism and the plagiarised manuscript will be immediately rejected or removed from the website or link will provided to the original sources.

Duplicate manuscripts

It is unethical for authors to submit a manuscript to more than one journal at the same time, either within Academic Journals or any other journal. This includes the submission of manuscripts derived from the same data in such a manner that there are no substantial differences in the manuscripts. Duplicate submission also includes the submission of the same/similar manuscript in different languages to different journals.

Fabrication and falsification of data

Fabrication, manipulation or falsification of data is a violation of this publication ethics. RALF will follow the COPE guidelines in suspected cases of fabrication and falsification of data (under processing).

Citations manipulation

Authors should use only citations that are relevant to their manuscripts. Addition of references which are not relevant to the work is strongly discouraged. Irrelevant self-citation to increase one's citation is unethical. Unnecessary citation of articles for the sole purpose of "increasing" the articles' citation is unethical. Unnecessary citation of articles from a particular journal to "increase" the journals citation is unethical.

Publication fee

Publication fee includes handling, publishing online and re-prints cost. There is no submission fee. After acceptance of the manuscript, corresponding author has to pay publication fee as Bangladeshi author @ BD Tk. 2500/- and foreign author @ US $ 60 per manuscript. Payment of the manuscript publication fee does not guarantee that the manuscript/article would be accepted for publication.

Refund Policy

If author pay article processing fee but the article or articles rejected for publication, then fee will be refunded to corresponding author deducting two review fees and processing fee for an unpublished manuscript, which is decided depending on number of article submitted and amounts paid to us by the managing editor.

Proof Reading

The edited final version of accepted manuscript will be sent to the corresponding author (as single PDF file) for correction if any. Major changes in the accepted manuscript are only acceptable with permission of editor at this stage. However, authors are requested to check the correctness of article carefully and return within 72 hours. The revised final full text article (.doc, .pdf) along with corresponding signed copyright transfer form and scanned payment slip should be submitted. The authors are responsible for the timely proofreading of article. In case, no response from author within the stipulated periods, we may proceed for publication of your article without further delay.
